

You should share it free with every country so the whole world can have clean drinking water

'I've discovered a great new way to make water clean enough to drink'

We already have clean drinking water in this country so it's a useless discovery

You should sell your discovery to scientists in countries without clean drinking water

?

You should keep it a secret so nobody steals your discovery

Sharing science

